Theme: "Heart Health for All:
Advancing Global Strategies in Cardiology"

ABOUT THE EVENT

The Heart World Conference (HWC 2026) is committed to uniting cardiology experts, researchers, clinicians, and policymakers globally to meet on 23-25 August, 2026, Dubai. This conference serves as a global forum to examine ground-breaking developments in heart care, ranging from innovative interventions and operative innovation to preventive cardiology and tailored treatments.

This year's theme, "Heart Health for All: Advancing Global Strategies in Cardiology", reflects HWC 2026's vision to facilitate collaborative solutions in cardiology, confront disparities in access to care, and mobilize scientific discovery toward real-world change. Collectively, we aim to reimagine cardiovascular health across all regions and populations.

At the core of HWC 2026, it is imperative to bridge the gap between scientific discovery and clinical translation. Our vision is to foster meaningful discussions regarding existing cardiovascular disease (CVD) burdens, research advancements, and the future of cardiac care. Through the convergence of multidisciplinary stakeholders, we work to catalyze collaborative solutions that can reshape outcomes for millions living with heart conditions globally.

Today, cardiovascular disease remains the major cause of mortality worldwide, with approximately 18 million deaths annually, 32% of total global mortality. From ischemic heart disease to stroke and heart failure, the challenge to healthcare systems and societies is increasing, particularly in low- and middle-income nations. This makes HWC 2026 more timely than ever as a platform to share knowledge, assess clinical practice, and foster effective change.

We are dedicated to delivering an experience to remember through well-planned sessions, interactive workshops, and keynote lectures by the most powerful voices in cardiology. Our team will work around the clock to make the conference not only of the highest scientific worth but also of the utmost networking value.

Join us in shaping the future of heart health — share your research, learn from global experts, and become a member of a movement to save lives and create stronger communities everywhere.

ABOUT THE ORGANIZER

Precision Global Conferences is a highly established organizer of scientific conferences, committed to proudly showcasing your achievement on the global platform. We hold the significant belief in emphasizing your contributory milestones towards the development of science. Our organization has taken a key role in facilitating growth, dissemination, persistence, research, and development in various disciplines including cardiology, oncology, neurology, nursing science, and catalysis.

We support superior-quality research and uphold the initiatives of researchers and academicians to present their landmark studies confidently. Our core mission is to promote the understanding of healthcare innovations globally. We are passionate about disseminating advanced level research, advances, and treatments worldwide through the organization of prestigious conferences.

This conference will highlight esteemed scientific contributions and their clinical implications in a hybrid format, both in-person and virtual presentations. If you are looking for a perfect platform reflecting your professional integrity and advancing your research, our professional team cordially welcomes your participation.

Why Participate in Precision Global Conferences?

1. Acquire fresh perspectives and stay abreast of the latest developments within your specialty.
2. Connect and network with specialists with subject matter experts, creating opportunities for future collaboration and possible funding for research.
3. Presenting research will greatly improve your professional profile and credibility.
4. Interact with peers at various career stages to gain inspiration and elevate your own research.
5. Cultivate valuable connections—both digital and real world—that can inspire new avenues of opportunity.
6. Conferences spark creativity, broaden your horizons, and encourage innovative thinking.
7. Effective leaders are continuous learners; even a few perceptive notes can spark several new solutions to challenges.
8. Attending conferences ensures your knowledge remains current, your insights refined, and your strategies progressive.
